April 27 food truck night notes By Mark Baratelli

I arrived early (2:45) and the signs weren't at the end of the street. But they're not supposed to be until 3pm. When I set them at the end of the street a gust of wind pushed two of them over. When these are set up each month (at the end of the street) they need to have sandbags placed on their bases to prevent toppling.

The Maine Thang is a Maine mess. They called around 4:30 to tell me they'd be arriving at 5pm. When they arrived, they arrived in a truck that was not The Maine Thang. It was an unsightly truck, it was not approved by the Town of Windermere. He did say he had the same menu inside and had the physical menu for people to read. but on the outside this truck was absolutely not appropriate for this town and this event. There was clear packing tape on the truck. It was not appropriate and I feel would never have been approved by the Town of Windermere period. See attached picture or the truck they showed up in.

The DJ wasn't set up and playing by 5pm but he does a decent job.

Attendance was light at first but picked up at the end a bit.

These need to be weighted. They blow down in the wind without weights.

These

Belong at the end of the street

Correct!

This is where these belong. At the end of the street.
